PRODUCER OF TWO GREAT PLAYS

Something About Theatrical Genius Who Brought Out SAVAGE MAY GET the "Lion and the Mouse" and "Third Degree."

Henry B. Harris, the nowed theatrical words whose theatres in New York ave. in the past four years, housed to se successes than any of their cometitors, during a talk with several riends a few days ago said things hat not only mean a great deal to he New York play-goers, but were of ast importance to the millions who sever get to the metropolis, and, conequently, hardly ever get an opporquently, hardly ever get an opporquently, hardly ever get an opporquently, hardly ever get an opporquently of seeing a New York dramatic will be in fast enough form, while riumph until the New Yorkers have potent questions, both on political and social lines and one innovation"—by which Mr. Harris will evidently profit greatly—"is the sending on the road, ere they have worn themselves out by years in New York, successes that are universally talked about.

"As did The Lion and the Mouse' strike telling blows at men high in politics and finance, so does Mr. Riein's The Third Degree' attack those prominent in society and the methods of the police in their subjecting innocent people to the sweating process of the third degree.

"I am sending The Third Degree' out on the road this season, when you, I and the general public know full well that it could stay on at the Hudson Theatre for a year or two yet, as did 'The Lion and the Mouse', but I will strike an appreciative chord by this move, from the great pleasure-loving, deep-thinking public who never get to New York, by giving them this vital dramatic triumph before it becomes too tired here. The Third Degree', as is my wish and I might say Mr. Klein's, will go on the road for a tour of the country, then into Chicago and then back to New York to fill out the time I originally haid out for it before I stranged for the new system."

Mr. Harris' "The Third Degree" comes to Jackson's Theatre next Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. Seats can now be secured.

TRACY STANDS BY MANAGER JIM O'ROURKE RESENTS ATTACKS DIRECTED AT LOCAL OWNER.

William J. Tracy of Bristol, president of the Connecticut League of Baseball Clubs, was in Hartford yesterday and said that all the attacks as the Bridgeport magnate held the whip hand and was responsible, more than any other man, for the success of the learners of the learners of the learners.

President Tracy said that he did not believe the reports that said that Bridgeport was a losing proposition under O'Rourke's management, and he thought that the salaries that were paid in Bridgeport would compare fa-vorably with the salary list in the other cities. President Tracy spoke of the great team that O'Rourke had some years ago and when he lost all of the men by graduation it was a hard job to build up another winning

As to the Luyster case, President Tracy said that O'Rourke was right and Manager Clarkin was wrong, and and Manager Clarkin was wrong, and that was all there was to it. Accord-ing to the president, O'Rourke for years has been working for the inter-ests of all the clubs and neglecting his own, an idea contrary to the expressed views of Managers Clarkin, O'Neil, Danaher, Connery and Dowd.

VAUGHN AND LOGAN MAY BOTH PLAY IN BIG GAME

(Special from United Press.) New Haven, Nov. 17 .- Much to the loy of Yale backers and enthusiasts, Yale's regular ends, Vaughn and Logan will both probably be in the big Yale-Harvard game, at Cambridge, Saturday. It is announced that barring the later judgment of the physicians, both men, whose legs were injured in the Princeton game, will be in condition to get into the practice on Yale Field this afternoon and continue with their old vigor until the end of the week.

time with their old vigor until the end of the week.

Despite the form sheet stories that Yale will have the battle of her life to get through the Harvard lines for long gains, the blue team is expressing every confidence in its ability to promise the necessary punctures. Comparisons of last Saturday's games shows that Marks and Ingersoll against Harvard made some big gains outside of tackles and running back punts, though they could not do this constructively. Marks and Ingersoll, however, couldn't hit the Princeton tackles very hard. Yale ploughed through them last Saturday without difficulty which tends to controvert the reports that Harvard's tackles will outclass the blue tackles. The work of the blue team this afternoon will be heavier than yesterday's practice and tomorrow afternoon the first squad will go to Auburndaie. Mass, to stay over night and rest up Frjday morning. In the afternoon the varsity squad will go to Cambridge for signal practice in the stadium.

Manager Jack Dunn Now a Magnate

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—The Baltimore Eastern league baseball club was sold yesterday by Edward Hanlon to former Manager Jack Dunn.

The title of the property sold is the Baltimore Baseball and Exhibition company. The actual property is the Eastern league club and franchise. Hanlon became sole owner of the property a few days ago. Dunn for the past two seasons has been manager of the club, playing second base. He says that the purchase is for himself slone and that he pays for it with his own money. The purchase price is withheld. With the club goes a lease of the baseball grounds covering several years. Dunn's attorney, Charles H. Knapp, becomes one of the directors as does Wilbert Robinson, well known as one of the catchers of the Baltimore club when this city was represented in a major league. Prior to coming here Dunn was manager of the Providence team.

BENGALS PUT IT ALL OVER CLOVERS

Ringing Statement from Junior Champions Which Explains Matters.

Explains Matters.

Sporting Editor:—

The Bengals are really tired of answering these little childish sorehead attacks through the newspapers but one especially should not go without an answer. That is the one written by the Clovers whom, by their article in a Sunday paper have proven that they are living up to their reputation of being 'the sorest bunch of losers ever organized in the city. One thing the Clover manager is "in bad" for is the fact that he stated the Bengals went to him for a game. Now the Clover manager has an extra bad memory or else he is very careless in regards to truthfulness for he and one of the players came to the Bengal manager with a challenge that was promptly and gladly accepted as the Clovers had already crawled from the Bengals on two other occasions.

Another thing he mentions the players used by the Bengals. He claims now state they had their regular team and no one knows it any better than the Clovers. What is the matter with the Clover manager, has he not proceeded far enough, in his education to enable him to read English? We gave him our line-up and he accepted it. Now the Bengals do not intend to notice any more of these little attacks and will leave it all to the fair-minded public as to who are the soreheads and the unsuccessful aspirants to the Ben-public as to who are the soreheads and the unsuccessful aspirants to the Ben-gals title should not sicken the public with their articles in the paper as the Bengal team, man for man, will re-main intact and next season will be on hand to give these teams their usual beating. Thanking you for the valuable space, we remain, yours in

He said:

The challeneg will come in official form through the Royal Ulster Facht club of which Lipton is a member. Sir Thomas declined to say when the official challenge would be sent. He added that he believed the challenge he is prepared to send will be accepted.
